Prospectors Rushing Camps to Completion Before Winter Comes

Spectacular Sturgeon River Strike Scene of Feverish Activity—District Once Abandoned When Iron Ore Was Goal of Miners

By LESLIE ROBERTS

STURGEON RIVER, Ont., Sept. 26 (By Airplane to Jellison, CP).—Impending freeze-up combined with dismal, misty days, has turned attention on the spectacular Sturgeon River gold discoveries to the winter housing problem.

Until a week ago small groups of tents provided the only shelter in the new rush camps. Today bunk houses, cookeries and mine offices are being rushed to completion.

Tail jacks are felled and cut into house lengths. Chunks between logs are stuffed with moss. Rough furniture is being manufactured. Before the snow flies, it is hoped, everyone will be living in a log house constructed to stand the ravages of below-zero weather.

MOVE INTO HUTS

At the Casey Contact Company's Brennan-Kent property, the entire crew has been put to work building a camp. As an overnight guest at the United States Smelter's claims, this correspondent was present during the move from tents to huts.

The next problem to be solved is that of rail transportation. Already officials of the Canadian National Railways are trying to ameliorate existing difficulties caused by the sudden load dropped on an almost abandoned line. It is expected that improvements in freight and passenger service will be announced in a few days, and mail service improvements may follow.

Difficulties in air transportation to and from the camps also must be solved. One independent pilot who arrived on the scene with his one-passenger plane, when all other air transport was out of commission,

CRITICIZED FOR FAIR WEDDING

Church Condemns Performance of Ceremony in Front of Grandstand

SARNIA, Ont., Sept. 26 (CP).—Lambton Presbytery of the United Church today passed a resolution condemning performance of a marriage ceremony before the grandstand at the Leamington Fair by a United Church minister. The resolution, passed at the Presbytery meeting, in Port Lambton, was sent to the secretary of the London Conference and secretary of the Presbytery, to which the minister, Rev. J. B. Champion, of Wheatley, near Leamington, is attached.

The resolution declared that the action of Rev. Mr. Champion "not only discredits the solemnity of the marriage ceremony, but lends the prestige of the church to exploitation of the sacred rite." The Leamington Fair of September 25, it stated, was climaxed with a wedding, described as "carried off with pomp in front of the grandstand."

WON THE PRIZE

LEAMINGTON, Ont., Sept. 26 (CP).—The marriage ceremony conducted before the grandstand of the Leamington Fair, last night, to which the Lambton Presbytery of the United Church has taken exception, was viewed by nearly ten thousand persons. Rev. J. B. Champion, of Wheatley, about eight miles from here, performed the ceremony that made William Quick and Margaret MacVicar, both of Leamington, husband and wife.

Rev. Mr. Champion conducted the ceremony after a Leamington minister refused. The fair board had offered a prize to the first couple agreeing to be married before the grandstand, and Quick and MacVicar appeared.

MINISTER REPLIES

WHEATLEY, Ont., Sept. 26 (CP).—Rev. J. B. Champion, United Church minister, who performed a wedding ceremony before the Leamington Fair grandstand, last night, described as "very peculiar" objections regarding his action. Informed of the criticism leveled at him by the Lambton Presbytery of the United Church, Rev. Mr. Champion declared it was not the place where a marriage was held that really mattered, but it was the spirit.

"When the United Church was formed the union ceremonies were not held in a church, but at the stadium in the Canadian National Exhibition grounds, at Toronto," the veteran minister said.

He commended William Quick and Margaret MacVicar, the couple who were married by him, for having the courage to take their marriage vows in the open.

BLACK WIDOW SPIDERS IN KANSAS FOR YEARS

MANHATTAN, Kan. — While the Black Widow spider has achieved a wide degree of ill-fame only recently, Dr. R. S. Smith, department of entomology of Kansas State College here, says the insect has been here for many years.

The bite of the Black Widow, or Hour-Glass spider, as it is properly termed, rarely is fatal, Smith says, adding that he never has heard of a victim who received prompt medical attention dying.

Smith says the Hour-Glass spider is not aggressive and that few persons bitten by spiders are victims of this variety. Bites of any spider should be treated with antiseptics, he says, and in case severe pain develops a doctor should be called at once.

Both the male and female Hour-Glass spiders are poisonous, and have a distinctive reddish hour-glass marking on the abdomen.

Indian Burned to Death in Cabin

OTTAWA, Sept. 26 (CP). — Reports of a Northland tragedy have just reached headquarters of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. Francois Des Noirs, treaty Indian, was burned to death in his cabin at Little Buffalo River, N.W.T., on August 22.

A fire in the stove is believed to have set the cabin afire while Des Noirs slept. Mrs. Virginia Calmer, who lives nearby, noticed the flames and roused her husband, but he reached the scene too late.

ENTERTAINED BY ROYALTY

Canadian Officials Guests of Japanese Princes and Premier

TOKIO, Sept. 27 (CP).—Hon. C. H. Cahoon, Secretary of State of Canada, and H. L. Keenleyside, assistant secretary at the Canadian Legation in Tokio, together with their wives, were entertained today by Japanese royalty and by Premier Koki Hirota.

Mr. and Mrs. Cahoon are here for a short visit during a round-trip holiday voyage to the Orient. They were entertained at luncheon by Premier Hirota and, afterwards, were tendered a reception by Princess Takamatsu in her palace.

Tomorrow, they will be luncheon guests of Prince Iyeyasu Tokugawa, father of Hon. Iyemasa Tokugawa, Japanese minister to Canada. Mr. Keenleyside, in charge of the Canadian Legation in the absence of the minister, Hon. Herbert Marler, has sent expressions of condolence to Premier Hirota for Japan's severe losses of life and property in the typhoon which devastated western Japan and central Japan on Friday.

Mr. Marler is now en route across the Pacific, after a lengthy furlough in Canada.

RUSSIA STIRS HORNETS' NEST

Litvinoff Makes Move to Renew Talk on Disarmament Plans

GENEVA, Sept. 26 (AP).—Russia's surprise move to get the Council of the League of Nations to strike a balance on disarmament, apparently had stirred up a hornets' nest tonight.

Because of the "dynamite" contained in Foreign Commissar Maxim Litvinoff's request that the council obtain a report on whether the Disarmament Conference can be successfully resumed, efforts were made, tonight, to induce him to withdraw it.

FEAR REPORT

Statesmen in some quarters were known to be apprehensive last night of a report from Arthur Henderson, president of the Disarmament Conference, might blame failure of the conference on Germany's withdrawal.

This, it was explained, inevitably would raise the question of the alleged rearming of Germany, in violation of the Treaty of Versailles, a question some countries are desirous of avoiding.

Litvinoff's proposal would throw the whole question of disarmament back into the lap of the League Council, which then would be responsible for choosing the path leading to disarmament. The proposal was contained in a letter to Richard Sandler, president of the League Assembly.

Keeps at Work in Spite of Wealth

BRONTE, Ont., Sept. 26 (CP). — Harry Christie, today, continued his work as assistant cook and some-time dishwasher at an inn here, despite the fact that his father, George Christie, former blacksmith, has sold a mining claim for $200,000. George discovered the claim two years ago and his sons, Harry and George, Jr., helped him work it. Harry said he would continue to cook and wash dishes. The father's claim is on the banks of the Montreal River in the Matachewan district.

CLAIMS UNJUST DISCRIMINATION

Railway Commission Hears Long Argument on Freight Rates for Feed

OTTAWA, Sept. 26 (CP). — With the assertion that prevailing domestic freight rates on feed grains and mill feeds from the Prairie Provinces to British Columbia points created "unjust discrimination," Thomas Reid, M.P., for New Westminster, today, argued five and a half hours before the railway commission for a reduction in these tolls.

Representing the Government of British Columbia and also the Fraser Valley Surrey Farmers' Cooperative Association, Mr. Reid made his plea on behalf of dairy and poultry farmers of the Pacific Coast Province. He asked the board to reduce the domestic rate of 30 cents per 100 pounds on low-grade grains and 41 1/2 cents on mill feeds moving from Edmonton and Calgary to Vancouver, to the export grain rate of 20 cents per 100 pounds.

Mr. Reid occupied the entire time of the sitting today. Associated with him is A. L. Chard, of Edmonton, who tomorrow will argue the case of the province of Alberta. Both railway companies are opposing the application. Counsel for them will probably follow Mr. Chard. It is doubtful if argument will be concluded tomorrow.

SUIT DISMISSED BY THE JUDGE

Rules Against Claim Based on Illegal Acts in United States

VANCOUVER, Sept. 26 (CP). — Suit of Harry Sokol for $8,250 against Pacific Forwarding Company and its manager, Harry Reifel, was taken from a Supreme Court jury and dismissed by Mr. Justice D. A. McDonald, today.

Mr. Justice McDonald gave his decision after defence counsel had requested dismissal of the action on the grounds that it was based on illegal acts in the United States. Sokol claimed the money was due him for commissions on the sale of 525 cases of whiskey to Sam Eastman, of St. Louis, and for traveling expenses incurred in making the sale, which was made in 1932, during prohibition in the United States.

Evidence given by Sokol and Len Milne, former president of the Pacific Forwarding Company, now an independent liquor dealer in Seattle, involved details of rum-running off the California Coast two years ago.

Sokol said he had entered into an agreement with Reifel to split the profits on the liquor which Sokol was able to dispose of in the United States. He declared that Eastman had returned his shipment because it was musty and unfit to drink and that Reifel had not reimbursed Eastman as he had promised to do nor had he paid Sokol $5,750 as commission on the sale and $2,500 traveling expenses.

Squatters Are Told To Vacate

VANCOUVER, Sept. 26 (CP). — Some 300 squatters on Kitaliano Indian Reserve were served with six months' notice to vacate their premises, by an official of the British Columbia Department of Lands, today.

The order to vacate the land was made by H. Catcher, deputy Minister of Lands at Victoria.

It is believed the action is being taken in connection with the announcement several months ago, by the Federal Government, of intention to build a new barracks for the Seventy-Second Scottish Highlanders, as part of its public works programme in British Columbia.

ENDORSE MOVE FOR ASSEMBLY

Ward Five Conservatives Ask for Immediate Session to Name Leader

By a unanimous vote, members of Ward Five Conservative Association, at the annual meeting last night, called upon the executive of the British Columbia Association to arrange for an immediate convention to select a leader for the Conservative party in British Columbia.

The decision of the meeting was also endorsed by D. B. Plunkett, federal member for Victoria, and Hugh Allan, president of the Victoria Conservative Association. "The quicker a convention is called, the better," Mr. Plunkett declared. "It is not necessary that a policy be laid down at the convention, but it is imperative that a leader be selected. The situation, at the present time, is not a pleasant one."

It is understood that the British Columbia executive is not anxious to summon a convention this fall, and some have suggested that a convention be delayed for a year or more. Resolutions, however, have been passed from a number of ward associations in Victoria and from Mainland constituencies suggesting an early decision concerning the leadership.

ELECT OFFICERS

Officers for the coming year were elected at the meeting last night. Adolph Lancaster was re-elected chairman, and C. Bridgen replaced A. Maclean as secretary. Delegates to the central executive are: F. J. Crowhurst, Mrs. W. Higgins, Maclean, and the chairman and secretary. F. A. Willis, past president of the Victoria Conservative Association, presided during the election.

D. B. Plunkett gave a brief review of federal affairs dealing mainly with the benefits given the farmers through marketing legislation which, he said, had been of great assistance to the farmers and to other branches of industry. Mr. Plunkett also stated that during the six months' session, the government had put through no less than 125 items of effective legislation designed to better the conditions of the people of the Dominion. In that respect he for the indictment of Hauptmann as the man who wrote the ransom notes, the man who guided the payment of the ransom, the man who made a promise to return the baby alive. This was a promise that could not be kept—for the baby was already dead.

Coincident with the finding of the money and revolver, there were two further developments.

NEW DEVELOPMENTS

1. Chief Inspector John J. Sullivan disclosed that he was seeking information about a man, possessing a huge roll of bills, who chartered a tug to catch the North German Lloyd liner Columbus, down the bay, when it sailed on Saturday.

2. J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the Bureau of Investigation of the Department of Justice, indicated in Washington that he looked for further arrests in the case.

Linked to the Columbus sailing, Sullivan cabled Detective Arthur Johnson information reported to have a highly important connection with the case. Johnson, who has been in Europe on another case, was instructed to proceed to an unnamed city to await further orders.

A CLOSE FRIEND

It was at once conjectured whether Johnson was sent to Bremen, where the Columbus is due to dock, or to Leipzig, where the body of Isadore Fisch is buried. Fisch was a close friend of Hauptmann. The latter has declared steadfastly since his arrest that the ransom bills were found in Fisch's possessions, left at the Hauptmann home when he sailed for Germany. Fisch died suddenly in Leipzig. It has been thought likely his body would be exhumed to determine if he met a violent death.

In the Hauptmann garage police and carpenters found a loose two-by-four, set in the side supports. Five holes had been drilled in the board. In each was tucked a wad of bills—$400 in all. Crispen in a little cubbyhole below the two-by-four, police found the revolver, evidently of German make.

With this discovery, the investigators have located $14,900 in ransom bills from the garage.

ADMITTED POSSESSION

Notified of the latest discovery, Hauptmann admitted possession of the bills and said the revolver was given to him by a friend. Investigators recalled "John"—as the ransom recipient was known by the long search—had indicated to "Jasie," in the cemetery, that he carried a small-sized revolver in his pocket.

Extortion is not the only charge against Hauptmann. Across the Hudson, there awaits the more serious charge of kidnapping and murder—murder because, even as the ransom negotiations proceeded, Baby Lindbergh lay dead in the Sourland Mountain woods, a few miles from the Hopeville home.

youths. The make, or color of the automobile used by the burglars could not be ascertained, it was stated by police. Police of Victoria and the surrounding municipalities were notified to check all reports of missing autos.

It is not known whether the burglars secured any valuables from the house, as no check had been made up to a late hour last night. Mr. and Mrs. MacGachen were absent from home for the evening, and the house was only partly lighted at the time of the attempted burglary.

Effort to End Threat Of Strike

LONDON, Sept. 26 (CP).—Miner leaders from South Wales arrived in London, tonight, from Cardiff, ready for an interview tomorrow with Ernest Brown, Minister of Mines, who is making every effort to avert the threatened strike in the South Wales industry.

Brown will first see the union leaders and then representatives of the owners, who have so far declined to meet the demand of the men for a new wage agreement with increases. Unless some sort of settlement or agreement is reached, the strike may be called for Monday, involving 130,000 men. The minister canceled a visit to the Clydebank for the launching of the Queen Mary to be on hand today.

SPENT NIGHT ON ROCK IN RAPIDS

Placer Miner and His Cat Marooned Until Rescued by Resourceful Sheriff

GRANGEVILLE, Idaho, Sept. 26 (AP).—A night spent perched precariously atop a rock among the rapids of the Salmon River was "just another one of those things" to William Herwig; he had his black cat, Tar, with him.

Herwig and Tar were rescued today by Sheriff Walter Altman, whose efforts last night were futile in the darkness.

Herwig, a placer miner seeking new fields, boarded his home-made scow at Salmon City with Tar for mascot. His navigation inadequate in the dark, he struck a reef more than a mile above Slate Creek.

Summoned to the isolated spot several hours later, Sheriff Altman turned archer and tried to shoot an arrow with string attached across Herwig's bow. Law enforcement seemed, at the time, nigh in his line.

PULLED TO SAFETY

But with the dawn of a new day and new hope, Sheriff Altman dropped a line downstream with a can attached. Herwig made the line fast, and all that remained to effect the rescue was about four hours of pulling.

"Tar and I have been in tight spots before," Herwig told the officers as he wrung the river water out of his pants. "But we've always pulled through. However, I'd have sold out pretty cheaply last night."

His craft still sound, Herwig planned to re-embark as soon as he and Tar dried out.

PRAIRIE POULTRY BOARD PLANNED

Scheme to Regulate Sale of Fowl and Eggs Proposed Under Marketing Act

OTTAWA, Sept. 26 (CP).—Submitted by Western livestock and poultry interests, the Dominion Marketing Board has under its consideration, tonight, a marketing scheme to regulate the sale of poultry and eggs from Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. A possibility exists that the scheme for poultry may be adopted in time to handle the fall marketing.

The scheme was presented by R. P. Roblin, president of the Saskatchewan Livestock Producers' Cooperative Association, G. H. Barr, Regina lawyer, and W. A. Landreth, Winnipeg, of the Canadian Poultry Pool.

LOCATE GIRL'S BODY IN TRUNK

Child Was Foully Murdered in Collecting School Funds

DETROIT, Sept. 26 (AP).—Strangled, criminally assaulted and her head crushed by a blow from a hammer, Lillian Gallaher's body was found today, stuffed into a trunk in an apartment six blocks from the home where she had been missing since Thursday.

The blood-stained hammer was found in the apartment, which had been occupied since July 10 by a couple registered as Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Goodrich, respectively about twenty-five and twenty-six years old.

Late today, a man who answered Goodrich's appearance was detained briefly in Adrian, Mich., until he established his identity.

MENTALLY DERANGED

With his release, Mr. and Mrs. Goodrich—the former said by police to have been committed to an Ohio asylum after molesting women and girls in Youngstown, O.—became the objectives of a search even more intensive than the one for the child, which ended on her eleventh birthday.

A tenant in the apartment building revealed today that she saw Lillian enter the Goodrich apartment last Thursday evening. She was selling chances on a punch board for the benefit of her school.

CHARGES BABIES SOLD BY DOCTORS

Californian Social Welfare Official Alleges She Has Information of Such Traffic

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Sept. 26 (AP).—Charges that physicians were selling babies in order to obtain compensation for themselves and for hospitals in maternity cases were made to the Governor's Council today by Elizabeth Owens, of the State Department of Social Welfare.

In most instances, she said, the mothers were poor. For the most part, Miss Owens said, the babies were adopted in the legal method provided by law and the money was paid secretly to the doctor or hospital in exchange for release of the children signed by the mothers.

She said certain information would be turned over to district attorneys in counties where the traffic allegedly is carried on.

C.N.R. TRUSTEE VISITOR HERE

F. K. Morrow, Member of Controlling Board, Making Tour of Inspection

FREDERICK K. MORROW

Frederick Keenan Morrow, Toronto, trustee of the Canadian National Railways, and R. C. Vaughan, Montreal, vice-president of purchasing and stores for the system, arrived in Victoria yesterday, on a tour of the railways' line in the West.

During the morning they conferred with railway officials here, inspected local properties of the railway, then drove up-Island to continue their survey.

Mr. Morrow, whose salary from the C.N.R. is a nominal $1 a year, is one of the youngest men ever to hold such a position on the system. He is a senior executive of many of the largest Canadian corporations, including manufacturing, transportation and utilities companies, and to accept the C.N.R. trusteeship in an effort to place the railway on a paying basis, Mr. Morrow resigned several of his positions.

FIVE DAYS A WEEK

In the interests of the Government-owned railroad, he now spends five full days a week.

Mr. Morrow was born forty-eight years ago in Essex Township, Simcoe County. He went to school at Alton, Ontario, then attended St. Michael's College in Toronto.

Mr. Vaughan, a native of Toronto, started his railway career as a C.P.R. messenger boy, and in 1903 went to the C.N.R. as secretary to the third vice-president. He became vice-president in 1920.

"My teacher's awful mean," "Hush, my son; you mustn't say that!" "Well, she is! She asked for my knife to sharpen my pencil to give me a bad mark!"

AUCTIONS OFF DEFUNCT LINE

Kansas City Judge Gets $53,000 in Brisk Bids in Court

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UP).—Judge Merrill E. Oils, of Federal district court, interested in getting as much money as possible for creditors of the defunct St. Joseph and Excelsior Springs bus lines, of a bankrupt interurban company, threw open the bidding on the property and virtually turned the proceedings into an auction.

In so doing he secured $53,000 for the bus franchise and the out-moded rolling stock, which was $30,200 above the original offer.

In opening the bidding, Judge Oils pitted against one another such interests as the Union Pacific, the Burlington and the Missouri Pacific & Van Swearingen Companies. The Union Pacific's bid finally prevailed.

As the time for closing the bids neared, representatives of the companies interested stepped up the tempo of their offers.

"Here's a bid of $45,000," said the Burlington representative.

"And here's one of $45,500," snapped the Missouri Pacific & Van Swearingen spokesman. Union Pacific men hurriedly conferred and then hiked their bid.

Thus the offers went until, with a minute to go, the Union Pacific went to $53,000 and the others dropped out.

SHIP IN DISTRESS OFF NOVA SCOTIA

SYDNEY, N.S., Sept. 26 (CP).—Three miles off the New Waterford coast, tonight, a vessel was believed to be in distress as fishermen reported seeing skyrocketing flare up and heard a series of explosions coming from a seaward direction. Vibeit Salter, Lloyd's agent at North Sydney, receiving reports from residents along the coast who had seen the distress signals, immediately dispatched the Dominion Steel & Coal Company tug Cruiser with instruction to speed to the ship's assistance.

TOURIST TRAFFIC

Mayor David Leeming has taken the initiative in a plan designed to increase facilities that will appeal to tourists who visit this community. It is an excellent idea that an executive committee with this end in view should have been appointed, and that, as well, there will be an advisory committee composed of those best equipped for the task. The hope may well be expressed, since so much interest has been evinced in this move, that it will not merely confine itself to increased advertising of the facilities that Victoria has to offer to the tourists, but that these facilities will, by a progressive programme, be steadily increased and everything possible done to develop this community as one of the most attractive resorts on the Pacific Coast.

It is all very well to provide entertainments for visitors. This is a plan that has been adopted before, perhaps not on a sufficiently large scale. The most important thing is to install permanent recreational facilities which will appeal both to tourists and our own people. It is true that this will cost money. The money, however, if properly expended, will be repaid a hundredfold by the results secured. Time and again attention has been directed to what Victoria can do in this respect. It can be made a seaside resort with both Summer and Winter facilities for entertainment, and the equable climate enjoyed here all the year round will make its appeal cumulatively insistent. All the publicity to attract tourists here in larger numbers may well prove unavailing unless there is a concerted effort to provide varied attractions for them. It is those attractions, carefully devised as a programme to be carried out through the years, that will hold tourists here and lead to an ever-increasing influx.

The tourist traffic alone, if it is engineered in this direction by the right methods, can undoubtedly lead to very substantial improvement in civic finances, to increased settlement within the municipal area and to the putting into circulation of considerably larger sums of money. The crux of the whole matter lies in providing facilities, both of a character which prevail in other seaside resorts and through the display of enterprise and initiative in devising ways and means of entertainment which will give this city unusual characteristics in this respect. Very careful planning will be needed, and for the mapping out of a programme an expert in this particular should be engaged. That should be one of the first acts of the executive committee. We believe such a move would receive prompt public sanction, and the fact that there was a definite programme in the making, to be carried out as finances permit, would serve to concentrate the attention of the people as a whole on plans for that development which is needed to give an impetus to the tourist traffic. There are a score and one plans that are obvious, but in this respect expert advice is needed as a preliminary to their being brought to fruition.

THE LOCH NESS MONSTER

English newspapers have been printing photographs of the "trail" of the Loch Ness monster and of views which purport to show its head, or part of its body. Although only one of these apparitions has been seen, the claim is put forward that it is not an isolated specimen, but one of a family indigenous to the loch. There has been so much agreement in the accounts furnished by those who claim to have seen the monster that its type is now actually described in detail. It has a long cylindrical body, from fifteen to twenty feet in length, is dark brown in color and covered with a coarse integument. The neck is from four to five feet long and about one foot in diameter, though increasing in thickness towards the junction with the body. It is surmounted by a head shaped like a pointed spade and lizard-like in character. One eye witness describes it as follows:

"The body, the forepart of which is furnished with powerful flippers, about three feet long—probably, though, this is uncertain, similar flippers or webbed feet exist posteriorly—ends in a long and flexible tail. The length over all in a full grown specimen is approximately between thirty and forty feet. It is amphibious by nature, and has probably much the same breathing apparatus as that of the newt. The flippers are its usual means of propulsion, but when it desires to accelerate the tail is brought into action, and a very high rate of speed attained. It seems doubtful whether the humps, so often seen, are physical, and it is more probable that they are due to muscular contraction and expansion in its progression through the water. Its organs of sight and hearing are highly developed, and have hitherto enabled it to preserve its remarkable incognito. The old wives' tales are coming true in part and there is little doubt that the original of the water-horse in the Gaelic legends is to be found in the creature for which at present we have no name."

A CASE OF MISTAKEN IDENTITY

Everyone knows the importance which, in a legal sense, attaches to the question of identity, the identity of a person or of his signature or of his voice. Scientific theories of great pith and moment are supported or shaken by the identification of a certain specimen as possessing this or that feature of quality. The observing powers of the young are, at an early stage, employed upon the task of identifying not only natural history specimens like plants and insects, but also grammatical specimens, parts of speech and the like. It used to be, and perhaps still is, regarded as important that the heedless school-boy should learn to distinguish the subject of a sentence and not confuse it with the complement. On September 7 The London Spectator printed the following sentence: "What was unique about this Congress were its interludes." If the readers of that journal have not lost their interest in correct English, the Editor of The Spectator may have to deal, as best he can, with indignant protests from outraged sticklers for grammatical propriety. They will declare with a loud and unanimous voice that if the subject is singular the verb must be singular, and if plural the verb must be plural. They will ask in angry tones if anyone in his senses suggests that the verb should be made to agree in number with the complement. They will pause for a reply, and as no one will venture to dispute the soundness of the conventional rule, they will proceed to identify the subject and prove their case.

How will they prove it? There is an old-fashioned way of distinguishing between subject and complement. Consider the sentence: "A dainty plant is the ivy green." Does this sentence give us information about a dainty plant or does it tell us something about the green ivy? Clearly the purpose of the sentence is not to say anything whatever about dainty plants, but to affirm something about ivy. Hence ivy is the subject of the sentence. Apply this method to The Spectator's sentence, and we see at once that it gives us no information concerning interludes, but it does tell us something about the unique feature of the Congress. The subject is singular, and the complement, "interludes," is plural; and The Spectator's sentence should have read: "What was unique about this Congress was its interludes." It was simply a case of mistaken identity.

BRITAIN'S CREDIT

The money value to a country of a balanced budget is emphasized by the fact that the War Loan in Great Britain has touched the new record price of 105. It has been going steadily upward since the National Government assumed power. It is the same with other securities in Great Britain. The visible improvement in trade has had a good effect on the stock market. Moreover, investors realize that there is greater stability in government than for several years. There is, too, the feature of the improvement in railway traffic in Great Britain. The returns indicate producers' activity and consumers' spending power.

The record price reached by the War Loan was due in part to buying from the United States. British credit is again in a position where it reflects the widespread confidence in the finances of the country and the belief that the domestic industrial situation is emerging satisfactorily from depression. There is now a steady stream of foreign capital seeking safety in British Government securities.

I HAVE SEEN

I have seen the glint of the sun's first ray
When it touches the hill-top far away.
I have seen the glory of sunset glow
And the gleaming of the winter snow.
I have seen the sheep on the windy down,
And the apple dressed in her April gown.
I have heard the surf in the seething bay
And known the stirs of the ocean spray.
I have heard the owls in the elm-tree shade
And the rustle of leaves in the woodland glade.
I have heard the music of children's call
And the organ notes of the water-fall.
I have thrilled to the touch of the Summer breeze
And the deep rich tints of the Autumn trees.
I have seen the sparkle of April rain
And the cowpale down the leafy lane.
I have seen the moonlight in forest halls
And the rabbits play when the twilight falls.
And in all the beauty mine eyes have seen—
In the sunset glow and the ocean sheen—
And in all the music mine ears have heard—
In the ripple of brook and the song of bird—
I have found, wherever my steps have led,
The beauty, the truth, and the voice of God.
—Reginald C. Eya, in Chambers' Journal.

HYDE PARKS, N.Y.

Recalling London's Hyde Park, where anybody is allowed to make a speech on anything, Commissioner Moses is providing New York with ten little Hyde Parks of its own, in addition to Union Square. Only the other day he was providing new facilities for feeding the squirrels in the parks. We are glad to see that he is now proving equally considerate of the nuts.—New York Evening Journal.

Manners are the happy ways of doing things; each one a stroke of genius or of love, now repeated and hardened into usage, they form at last a rich varnish, with which the routine of life is washed and its details adorned. If they are superficial, so are the dewdrops which give such a depth to the morning meadows.—Emerson.

Note and Comment

By R. B. D.

What thou wouldst highly
That wouldst thou highly; wouldst not play
And yet thou wouldst not play —Shakespeare.

The London Field, the noted sportsman's journal, has been commenting on the ethics of test matches. A multitude of commentators will be commenting upon the ethics of yacht racing as a consequence of the latest contest for the America Cup. We fear none of the comments will be destitute of prejudice. After Endeavor had won two races, a reader of the bulletin boards said to us: "Now watch out for the monkey work." It was with that comment in mind that we wrote: "There is many a slip between the cup and the lip." The English boat was two up, with two rounds to go. One of Sir Thomas Lipton's sloops won two races, but she lost three straight. The Irish sportsman had the cup close to his lip, but he never tasted a sip.

Another prejudiced commentator was heard to remark, "It was not the better craft that won; it was craft that won." There will be many comments of that kind, but as a matter of fact the truth appears to be that it was seamanship as applied to the art or craft of boat racing that won. Sopwith had his hand stretched out for the cup; but he lost his chance owing to his own bad judgment and to the incompetence of his crew. The English shipper condemned himself, but he uttered no word of complaint against his crew. He lost one of the series of races by going off in search of a breeze in unfamiliar waters, when he should have known that his best policy was to follow the course of Rainbow and maintain his advantage.

Subsequent discussion of the result of the races and the continuing discussion of the recent test cricket matches will justify the criticism of Mr. George Bernard Shaw on the effect of international competitions. In the great scheme of things that really matter cricket matches and boat races are not of the slightest importance, but it is a fact that people who ought to devote their thought to higher things are deeply interested in such comparatively trivial things.

Passions were aroused in the controversy over the cricket test matches which threatened to affect not only the cordial political relations, but the growing and improving business relations, between the Mother Dominion of Great Britain and the Sister Dominion of Australia. Passions have been aroused by the international yacht races which will not improve the general relations between Great Britain and the United States. Passions have been aroused in Canada by the international incidents in the international yacht race which may not have a salutary effect upon the cordial relations between this country and our neighboring country to the south. Such things happen because games are not played in the right ethical spirit. The winner of a boat race is of no importance to the people of Canada, but Canadian bias, being all British, naturally goes for the victory to their own country and their own people. That is another exemplification of the spirit of human nature.

People in Great Britain who estimate things of such a kind according to their true value are exhorting the more passionate and excitable portion of the population to forget all about cricket, which does not really matter, and turn their attention to things which actually matter and are essential. Yet, as the Field points out, there is a mystery in connection with the test matches which has not been revealed and which an effort should be made to explain. We quote this comment because a few weeks ago we were criticized for writing a very similar view. Here is what the great sporting journal says:

Mr. Neville Cardus, the distinguished writer who has described the test matches for us during the past Summer, writes this week enthusiastically of the cricketing qualities of the Australian team which has just succeeded in carrying off the ashes. We share his admiration for the skill of our visitors, who have had their due reward in contests with eleven which have, on the whole, been inferior to them in batting and bowling, and particularly in fielding.

But we cannot pretend to be satisfied with the present situation. England throughout the Summer has never been represented by her best eleven. The captain who was victorious in Australia has not played, neither have the bowlers who hitherto have been most successful against Australian batting. admittedly weak against fast bowling. Larwood, it is true, put himself out of court by his own action. But Voce? He took eight wickets for sixty-six playing for Nottinghamshire against Australia on the Saturday preceding the last test match, and for some reason, hitherto not made public, was withdrawn from that match on the third day. He was not selected to play in the last test match. Why?

When philologists whose minds are concerned with higher things say that play is of the least importance, they probably mean that the game is of the least importance.

THE COLONIST IN LONDON
The Colonist may be procured at the International News Stand of Messrs. Salford & Co., Oxford Street.

stalecraft is of the first importance. At the present time the British ship of state is sailing in smooth and pleasant waters. If we are to believe everything that is being said and written about the United States ship of state, that craft is menaced by troubled seas and turbulent waters. Captain Roosevelt when he mounted the bridge selected a very learned crew to assist him in guiding his craft into a protected harbor; but he has repeatedly changed his crew, and another change is being made. If Canadians are wise they will ponder over the comparative conditions in their own country and the conditions in their neighbor Country before following the example of the United States and making a change which will involve any dangerous experiments.

TRAFFIC SIGNALS

Sir,—Some time ago I had occasion to drive about the streets of Kelowna, a small city in New York, and found much to be learned from the traffic signals that I observed. I was told they were designed to a considerable extent. Last week I was in the same way, and before we incur the expense of the conventional installation, might I suggest that we try a few experiments looking toward a system which might prove much simpler and cheaper than the usual type, and yet answer all the requirements of Victoria? Later in the week, I may make a suggestion along this line.

FOUL BAY LIFEBOAT

Sir,—It was a splendid gift early in the year Mr. A. S. Denny presented a lifeboat to the Foul Bay Community Association as a memorial to the late Doctor Fred Harding. Some of your readers are under the impression that I have had something to do with the care of the boat and the training of a number of young men from whom a crew could be picked when the boat is wanted for service. I take the opportunity of correcting this impression and desire to state that I have never had anything to do with the care of the boat or the training of the crew.

The appointment of a qualified local boatman as coxswain by the Foul Bay Community Association is very important and has already been too long delayed. I hope that the secretary of the above association will take the necessary action to make a start in having a crew of young men trained under an experienced coxswain for the Foul Bay lifeboat.

WATCHED BY S.P.C.A.

Sir,—Your correspondent, Mr. A. Neale, in his letter of the 23rd inst., blames the S.P.C.A. for failing to take definite action in regard to a horse owned and driven by a Chinaman. This case has been under the supervision of the inspector for some time. Two competent veterinary surgeons have been consulted, who, upon examination of the animal, declared it suitable to do the work required.

The inspector ordered the horse off the street in August of last year, but the Chinaman got permission from a veterinary to stable him. Frequent visits to the stable proved that the horse is well fed and cared for when not at work. This is one of the many difficult cases confronting the officers of this society; in the face of the decision of the vets it would be useless to attempt to prosecute.

A. R. SHERWOOD.

STATE HEALTH INSURANCE

Sir,—I was very glad to see Miss Dora Killo's letter on state health insurance, which appeared in your issue for September 20. Clear and comprehensive answers should be given to the question she asks, and moreover, the public should be allowed ample opportunity to consider the whole matter in all its bearings before any movement is made towards legislative action. All the points raised by Miss Killo are of vital consequence to every one of us and they should on no account be neglected and forgotten by anyone who values personal liberty of choice with regard to his or her bodily health. W. B. PRASE, 2840, Cadboro Bay Road, Victoria, B.C., September 25, 1934.

Despite ill-health, Marie Dresler was always jovial and had a fund of good stories. The international craze for slimming tickled her sense of humor. During the making of her film, "Reducing," she told a story which has gone round the world.

"My doctor," said Marie, "advised me that riding a horse was a guaranteed method of losing weight. He was right! At the end of a week the horse had lost seven pounds and I'd put on ten!"

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

(From The Daily British Colonist of September 27, 1884.)

Yesterday afternoon there occurred an accident which nearly proved fatal to Joseph Gray, of that place. It appears that while driving a horse and cart along the pier at the navy yard, a pair of sheaves used for hoisting heavy freight suddenly fell with a crash, striking Mr. Gray on the head and stunning him. The horse received the full force of the blow and was killed instantly. Mr. Gray, who was a few feet closer to the sheaves, would have in all probability paid the price of someone's carelessness with his life. At last accounts Mr. Gray, although badly bruised about the head, was doing remarkably well, considering the force with which he was struck.

Just as the curtain fell on the second act at the Philharmonic Hall last night, a man who had been imbibing too much in the "cup that cheers" fell off his chair to the floor, striking his chin and forehead and sustaining serious injury, much to the amusement of the audience, who cheered him heartily as he staggered himself, with the assistance of two friends, and departed for a "smile."

We are indebted to Mr. Wilson, of the Amelias, for a fine brace of grouse which he kindly presented to us yesterday.

RACING WAGERS SHOW INCREASE

Meeting at British Columbia Meets This Year Heavier by Five Per Cent

British Columbia race meets this year saw a 5 per cent increase in total sums wagered by the public as recorded at eight fixtures, according to official figures announced yesterday by Hon. John Hart, Gross sums passing through the machine were $2,554,196, up $100,013 from $2,454,183 wagered at race meets last year.

At 7 per cent the gross tax on wagers would have been $178,793, but the Province collects a net tax of 5 per cent, making $127,700. Actual receipts in taxation by the Province were $17,000 more than estimates made at the start of the fiscal year.

WILL RETAIN TAX

This year the Province will retain the money. Two years ago the whole of the sum realized from racing taxes was handed on by the Government to the municipalities. This distribution was removed from the statute about a year ago, since then the municipalities have not participated.

Official figures for the amounts wagered at each meet, with last year's results in brackets following, are as follows: First Landownes, $323,937 ($281,875); second Landownes, $364,266 ($351,800); first Brighouse, $314,001 ($318,883); second Brighouse, $366,382 ($363,452); first Hastings, $423,266 ($417,229); second Hastings, $460,656 ($458,853); Willows fair, $143,965 ($142,535); second Willows, $157,743 ($114,536). Colwood saw $74,891 wagered in six days last year, but had no meet this year.

Fair associations at Victoria and Vancouver received 50 per cent of the pari-mutuel tax, in lieu of their regular grants. This meant $3,000 to Victoria and $11,000 to Vancouver, it is stated.

MAYOR LEEMING IS COMMENDED

Tourist Trade Project Gains Whole-Hearted Support From Merchants

While signing hundreds of cheques for the refund of overpaid taxes, yesterday, Mayor David Leeming was besieged with telephone calls from many Victoria merchants and large taxpayers commending him for the project he has launched for the development of the tourist trade in Victoria.

Not only was the telephone busy, but many personal calls were made, and in every instance the Mayor was assured whole-hearted support. It is expected that a meeting of the executive committee, formed at the Tuesday night gathering of business leaders, will be held shortly to consider the personnel of the advisory committee of thirty, who will devise ways and means of providing attractions for tourists in Victoria.

"CULTIVATE THE GROUND" R. H. B. Ker, who was elected to the executive, said yesterday that the tourist trade was something like seeds. Victoria was the ground, and the tourists the seeds. The trouble in the past was that the city had planted the seed, but failed to cultivate the ground when the seed began to grow.

"Consequently the growth has been stunted. It is now up to Victoria to cultivate the ground, and give the tourist trade a healthy, robust growth," he stated.

NOT PRESUMING DEATH AS YET

Order Refused in Supreme Court Before Further Precautions Taken

VANCOUVER, Sept. 26 (CP)—After commenting on a recent case in Victoria, where a man supposedly dead turned up alive, Mr. Justice Denis Murphy today refused to make an order in Supreme Court presuming the death of Denis Haley.

The case referred to by Mr. Justice Murphy was that of Thomas Dresser, seventy, presumed dead by an order of Mr. Justice A. I. Fisher in Supreme Court, last December.

Dresser walked into a bank in Victoria, early this month, and attempted to draw some money, but was told by the teller that he had no right to sign cheques, or even be there at all, as he was legally dead.

According to information given to police immediately after the accident, Mr. Keyes was in the act of crossing Fort Street at Blanshard and was struck by an automobile driven by John Coburn. The injured man was taken to the Jubilee Hospital in the police ambulance and attended by Dr. Walter Bapty. He was considerably dazed when admitted to the hospital, but the extent of his injury had not been definitely determined at a late hour last night.

Gloom Covers Tired Vienna, Once Gayest City in All Europe

Strife-Sick Citizens Cannot Make Merry While Armed Guards Patrol Streets—Spirit of Dream Place Is Much Changed

By PIERRE VAN PAASSEN
Central Press Canadian Writer
VIENNA, Sept. 26.—Once upon a time there was a dream-city. . . . Soft music floated in the air from every open window. . . . Gay, but subdued laughter tinkled in its parks where drumless military bands played romantic reveries all day long. . . . Fashion shows were held in public and young lieutenants of the guard stared at the doll-faced mannequins as a connoisseur stares at the Sistine madonna. . . . The pace of that city—for every city has a pace of its own—was a leisurely shuffle with a rustle by Marek Weber and his orchestra. . . . A faint perfume of pine and new-mown hay wafted up its main streets from the meadows on the blue river beyond. . . . The cafes began to fill at two in the afternoon and not till dawn did the musicians put away their instruments. What interested the Vienna of yesterday was a new opera by Johann Strauss, a new discovery by Freud or Adler, a new book by Klabund or Franz Werfel, a new poem by Hugo von Hofmannsthal. . . . The army held parades but those shows made you think of the Count of Luxembourg and the Merry Widow waltz. By 5 o'clock every officer had changed to dress and tried his strategy on non-military objectives.

ONCE WAS GENERAL
An old gentleman comes into the cafe sell flowers. He bows to left and right.
"To take home," he says, holding out a small bouquet.
"My home is far away," I reply. "I am afraid the flowers will be all withered by the time I get there."
"Where is your excellency's home?" he asks.
"In Paris," Ah, Parée, how lovely. I was there several times. Last time in 1913. I accompanied the Archduke Franz. . . . I was a general of infantry."

WAS DREAM CITY
At the cafes in their customary corners you could see the pontiffs of literature, music and the theatre. Beer-Hofmann, Bahr, Arthur Schnitzler, Felix Salten, Ferenc Molnar, Richard Strauss, Max Reinhardt, others yet. . . . Here they greeted and received the maestro and the actresses of the Burg Theatre, the theatre of the Joseph City. The opera, the symphony orchestra, the theatre of the ballet.
That was Vienna. A city of mature civilization, easy-going cosmopolitan, utterly tolerant, genial. There is a special word, untranslatable into English for Viennese kindness and gentility: gemuetlichkeit. Vienna was gemuetlich. The great Freud was as accessible as the policeman on the Ringstrasse. Everybody had a kind word. In those days everybody spoke of Prince Starchenberg as "our Rudolph" and of Dollfus as "millennium". (A millimetre is the thousandth part of a metre. Metternich was a statesman who lived a hundred years ago). Vienna was a city of smiles, of art and literature, of pleasant manners and leisure.

SPIRIT HAS CHANGED
Now faces have hardened. The smile of Vienna has faded. Great gaping holes appear in the facades of the old buildings. In the houses of Florisdorf, in the Goethehof, in the Karl Marx Hof. High explosive tore these holes into the walls. I saw the ruins of the school where eighty-five children were killed. The school was a masterpiece. No Vienna does not smile any more, that is if you don't count the mercenary smile of the priestesses of Astorath on the Wiedmerstrasse. Vienna has lost both the power and the right to smile. You don't kill little children with impunity, even if they are children of the working class.

SEARCH PEDESTRIANS
Heimwehr patrols move up and down the streets. Here and there barbed wire entanglements have been set up. The police stop the Heimwehren tap your hip pockets and your trouser legs for hidden guns. The police stop the Heimwehren ask them questions. It makes the passers-by smile. It tells me that the Heimwehren are not forgotten. The past is gone. Not even thinking of the past brings comfort.

NO ONE WILL TALK
Whom shall we interview: Chancellor Schueniger? But he has nothing to say until he has seen Mussolini. Archduke Eugene, then, or Archduke Wilhelm? They shrug their shoulders. "Let's talk of Paris," says the one, "this business here is so uninteresting." The other tells me with a cold stare from behind a crystal monocle that he's going hunting. I intended to ask some Jews how they are getting along, for there is much talk of anti-Semitism. But the Jews are afraid to open their mouths. Suppose I wrote the truth! Just suppose! "God help us from a repetition of Germany," they say. So back to the cafe is the only thing left to do. Another coffee. That's the twelfth cup today. And only 4 p.m., and two full days to go before I can see Starchenberg. I wished I had a dollar for every hour I waited in ante-chambers and hotel lobbies for princes and grand vicars and movie queens and people's commissars.

"You have just heard a pot-pourri of the past," says the waiter.

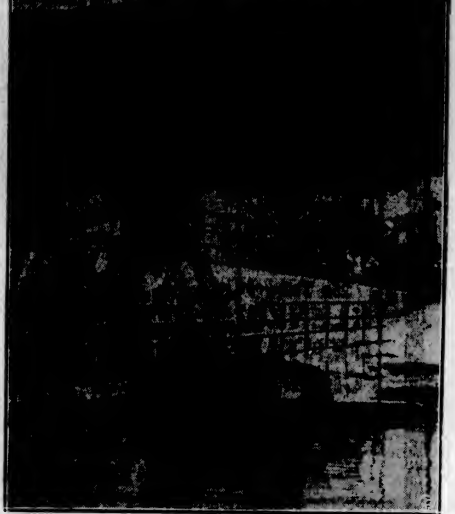

The traveler had taken rooms at a fashionable hotel, but just as he was signing the visitors' book a little not forgotten that the clerk he couldn't stay there. When asked the reason, he answered, pointing to the insect, "Well, it's bad enough when those little beggars attack you in the night, but when they come to see the number of your room, it's a bit too bad."

Violated Game Act—A technical violation of the Game Act was held in the Provincial Police Court.

Flood Follows Rainstorm

When a deluge of rain, assuming torrential proportions, descended on Central Ontario, cities found their sewers overloaded and unable to carry off the surplus water. Puddles grew into small lakes in some streets. Above is shown a "casualty" at Brantford, Ontario, where a motorist misjudged the depth of water gathered in the hollow under the railway bridge, and found himself stranded halfway across.

City and District

Rings Stolen—Two rings, one diamond and one pearl, were stolen recently from the home of E. Jordan, 288 Quadra Street, it was reported to Spanish police.

B.C. Welfare Bureau—Social and welfare services of the Province will be directed under a bureau of welfare. Hon. Dr. G. M. Weir announced yesterday. Dr. H. M. Cassidy will be in charge.

Stops at Riding—Hon. F. M. MacPherson, en route home from a convention of the Canadian Good Roads Association in Quebec, will stop over at Cranbrook riding this week and will arrive in Victoria at the week-end, it was said yesterday at his office.

State President Coming—The regular meeting of the Victoria Acetylene No. 12, Fraternal Order of Eagles, will be held next Wednesday, when M. Blair, of Vancouver, who is state president, will address the gathering. A social evening will follow the meeting.

Visiting City—Three prominent insurance executives of Canada are visiting Victoria, and are staying at the Empress Hotel. They are: G. M. Wynne, Montreal, of the Sun Life; E. C. Chown, Waterloo, Ontario, of the Mutual Life, and E. T. Showler, Toronto, of the Manufacturers' Life.

Mails Close Earlier—Effectively October 1, the afternoon mail from Victoria for Seattle will close at 4 o'clock in the afternoon instead of 5 o'clock as at present. Postmaster G. H. Gardiner advises the British Columbia Coast Service steamer leaving at 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon instead of at 5 o'clock.

Will Postpone Action—While representations will continue to be heard by the Provincial Markets Board, no executive decision will be made in the absence of the chairman, Colonel Eric Pepler, resident of Esquimalt. Pepler, president of the board, is en route to Ottawa on a court case, may be away two weeks. Meanwhile, action in relation to creation of a sheep board will be stood over, it was intimated.

Equimault Council—The Equimault Council will meet at 7:30 o'clock Friday evening instead of next week owing to the departure of Reeve Alexander Lockley for Kamloops to attend the Union of British Columbia Municipalities Convention. The meeting is not expected to last more than ten or fifteen minutes, as the only business to be dealt with is the authorizing of payment of accounts.

A Fruitful Session—The police court sitting held yesterday brought forth quite a result of violations of driving and parking regulations. One offender who failed to produce a driver's licence excused himself on the ground that he had changed his clothing to a dress suit and did not transfer the licence. The court held there was a violation under the act, and imposed a fine. Nearly $50 was paid in fines.

Officers Elected—The Queen of Peace Young People's Club held its annual meeting in the church hall at Esquimalt on Tuesday evening. The report showed a year full of various social and intellectual activities. The financial statement revealed a satisfactory bank balance. A vote of thanks and appreciation to the retiring officers was passed unanimously. It was agreed to meet twice monthly on the second and fourth Tuesdays. The newly-elected officers are: President, I. Pierce; vice-president, Esther Smith; secretary-treasurer, Eileen Worth; executive committee, Alan Hargreaves, John Lea, Betty Moller and Betty O'Leary. At the close of the business, refreshments were provided.

QUESNEL, Sept. 26 (CP).—Ross Jeffrey, of Port St. John, B.C., charged with attempting murder of his step-father, Levi Gauthier, was acquitted by a jury at the first sitting of an assize court here.

DAYLIGHT ROBBERY
VANCOUVER, Sept. 26 (CP).—Police here believe that Pete Carlson, arrested in Los Angeles, tonight, and George Hall, said to be hanging in San Quentin Prison, are the two bandits who staged a daylight robbery of the branch of the Bank of Montreal, at Fourth

THREE HELD FOR HOLD-UPS
Men Arrested in Los Angeles Linked With Bank Robbery at Vancouver
LOS ANGELES, Sept. 26 (CP).—Climaxing eight weeks of investigation by local and Federal authorities, three men were arrested tonight and held for questioning concerning five bank holdups here. One of the men is also wanted in connection with a holdup in Vancouver, B.C., and the murder of an officer and a civilian near Yreka, California.

Those arrested gave the names of Pete Carlson, thirty-five, said by police to be wanted in Vancouver, and California for the killing of an officer and civilian after fleeing from Canada; Isador "Izzy" Fenton, thirty-five, alleged accomplice in robberies here, and Leob L. Cossack, Los Angeles attorney, asserted "brains" of the local hold-ups.

Three women were also arrested and held as material witnesses. They gave the names of Mrs. Susie J. McElroy, thirty-three, Cossack's stenographer; Mrs. Betty Lang, who was declared to be Carlson's companion; and Lillian Wolf, said to be Fenton's companion.

Police said Carlson's partner in Canada was named George Hall, now said to be in San Quentin awaiting hanging.

Following the Canadian robbery, the duo allegedly fled to the international border, leaving the customs guard, leaving him handcuffed to a tree in Washington. The tree was chopped down to free the official.

CORNERED IN YREKA
The two allegedly were cornered in Yreka, where a pursuing Oregon officer and a civilian bystander ascertained were killed. Hall, police said, was convicted for his part in these killings.

While held in jail by Federal officers, in Glendale, Cal., a year ago, on suspicion of bank robbery, Carlson, police said, was bailed out of jail by professional bondsmen.

Cossack, who formerly practised law in San Bernardino, was convicted in Federal Court here, for concealing assets in a Bernardino bankruptcy case, sentenced to a term in McNeil Island Penitentiary, March 12, 1932. He was released a year later by court order, while his case was being appealed. The case is still in appeal.

Foods Are Important To Health

A common sense talk on foods, with special emphasis on the value of foods in which the natural properties were preserved as much as possible even after cooking, was given at the well-attended supper gathering held in the Memorial Hall of the Church of Our Lord last evening.

The speaker, M. Flett, of the Wear Ever Aluminum Company, quoted Dr. Mayo, of Rochester, Minn., in saying that 90 per cent of diseases were deficiency diseases, and from this point he proceeded to mention the more important of the sixteen important elements that are required by the human body: Iron, needed for the blood, and found in such foods as blackberries, spinach and asparagus; calcium or lime, needed for teeth and bones, found in milk, greens and cabbage; phosphorus, necessary for the upbuilding of the nerves, found in all sea foods; iodine, good for the thyroid glands, found in carrots, pears and sea foods; magnesium, useful in preventing constipation, found in cereal with bran, black figs, onions and some other foods, all of which should be very carefully cooked in such a way as to conserve the steam. The smell from cabbage and onions was sulphur passing off in the form of steam. Sulphur, as shown, had food value, and should be saved.

The Metropolitan Life health research cited constipation as being responsible for 75 per cent of their liabilities. "We should pay at least as much attention to feeding the family as to feeding the livestock—but we do not," said the speaker.

About 100 guests were present, H. G. Scarlett moving the vote of thanks to the speaker. The young people of the church assisted with preparing the tables and the serving of the much-enjoyed repast provided by the company on behalf of the church funds.

Weddings

FAGAN-REID

The marriage was celebrated at the Church of Our Lady Queen of Peace, Esquimalt, Tuesday morning, Rev. Father A. B. Wood officiating, when Miss Kathleen Reid, second daughter of Mrs. J. E. MacDonald, 730 Wilson Street, became the bride of Mr. Matthew Gerald Fagan, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. M. Fagan, Atkins Road, Langford. Assisting Rev. Father Wood in celebrating the nuptial mass were two young brothers of the bride, Jack and Elliott MacDonald. The wedding march was played by Mr. Fred Pitt. Given in marriage by her stepfather, the bride looked charming in a white flat crepe gown, made with a lace yoke, and worn with a white crepe de Chine hat. Her bouquet was of Ophelia roses, white carnations and sweet peas. Her sister, Miss Norah Reid, was bridesmaid, in a frock of pale pink crepe de Chine and a white turban and nose veil. She carried pale pink snapdragons, roses and carnations. Mr. Adolph Pedneault was best man.

A reception was held later at the home of Mr. and Mrs. MacDonald, attended by only relatives of the bride and groom. Mrs. MacDonald, mother of the bride, wore a becoming gown of brown silk crepe, and Mrs. Fagan, mother of the groom, wore an attractive black crepe ensemble and hat to match. Mrs. Austin Craven, Mrs. L. Westendale and Mrs. Adolph Pedneault also assisted at the reception. A three-tier wedding cake centred the table, which was decorated with native flowers and maple candles in silver holders. Rev. Father Wood proposed the toast to the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Fagan left on the S. S. H. F. Alexander for California, where they will spend their honeymoon, the bride traveling in a blue ensemble and blue coat trimmed with a grey fox collar. The bride's gift to the bridesmaid was a pendant set with marcasite, and to the best man the groom gave a leather wallet.

AMBROSE-BERNARD

A pretty but quiet wedding was solemnized in St. Mark's Church, Dawson Creek, on Friday evening, August 31, when the rector, Rev. Canon Proctor, united in marriage Mr. Albert Logan Ambrose, of Port St. John, and Miss Barbara Kathleen Bernard, of Victoria, formerly teacher at Riverside and at Port St. John, B.C. The groom was assisted by Mr. Braden Scott Herron, and the bride by Miss J. Ruthford. The bride, who was given away by Mr. R. G. Sprinkling, principal of Port St. John School, looked charming in a blue and white travel tweed suit with matching accessories, and carried a shower bouquet of sweet peas, carnations and maidenhead fern. A number of Port St. John residents and friends gathered to witness the wedding, and to shower the bride and groom with confetti, as well as their good wishes before they started back to the North. They will make their home at Port St. John.

An old gentleman saw a group of small boys in the park and asked one of the number what game they were going to play. "Cricket," said the youngster. "We're going to play a game of England versus the West Indies." "Are some of you going to black your faces, then?" asked the old gentleman.

"Oh, no!" said the youngster very seriously. "Some of us are going to wash them."

Gladys Glad On Beauty

If we women all rested content with the gifts the gods bestowed on us at birth, there'd be mighty few attempts at self-improvement ever made. But the realization that women too often are taken at their face value prompts us all to strive continually for further loveliness. And so we reach for the world with one hand and for our powder puff with the other.

How a girl uses that powder puff of hers, however, has a lot to do with what her face value finally will total. And knowing how to use a powder puff properly is especially important during the summer days.

For the improper use of powder and puffs constitutes one of the greatest causes of facial eruptions. It is not the number of times that powder is applied to the skin that is likely to cause blackheads and skin eruptions. The danger lies in the fact that this cosmetic is so often applied over a dirty skin. And as a result of this practice, the pores become clogged and skin blemishes appear to mar the flawless loveliness of the complexion.

It really is most harmful to apply powder over a soiled skin, especially during the summertime. For in the hot weather the skin exudes a great deal of oil and moisture. Particles of dust and dirt accumulate quickly on a moist, greasy skin. And if, when the skin is in this condition, a layer of powder is stuffed on and a puff is rubbed over the face, the grease, grime and powder will be rubbed into the pores.

Of course, it may be difficult for the average woman to cleanse her skin each time that her face becomes shiny enough to require powdering. But she should be well prepared in case the opportunity does present itself. It's not very inconvenient to keep in one's purse a tiny tube of cleansing cream or a small vial of some good liquid cleanser. And that's really all that's needed for a quick retouch.

Every woman should keep in her purse at least a bit of soft cleansing tissue or several tiny bits of cotton. There are now little squares of cotton on the market that are not at all bulky, and also small books of cleansing tissue that may easily be carried about. These may be employed to remove the oil and grime from the skin's surface each time that the face becomes shiny and needs powdering. And they'll prove most helpful in keeping the skin clear and lovely.

Mr. Gilbert Mant has left for Seattle and other Coast cities, and will visit the Western Washington fair at Fuyallup.

Mr. and Mrs. Craig Reid have left for Victoria, having received word, on Monday, of the death of Mrs. Reid's mother, Mrs. A. M. Towner.

PARIS STYLES

By MARY KNIGHT

PARIS (UP).—Paris is in for a classic season in dress. "I believe in the classic," said the Princess Dikusha de Rohan.

"For street wear my line is decidedly restrained," she added, "throwing into prominence the quality of the materials, which are the result of painstaking search."

She makes a lot of three and some four-piece ensembles for street, because she thinks it a pleasant variation from the overworked ensembling in a single shade. It also gives the wearer a chance to have several charming effects with a single outfit. It is not only smart but economical. Her jackets are short, while her coats are long, or three-quarters, varying from fitted for street to looser lines for sport.

In evening gowns, Princess de Rohan has garnered her inspiration from the Merovingian period. There are flowing draperies for skirts with the fullness both front and back, but carefully planned to accentuate the natural lines of the figure. There are angel wing sleeves which, when turned back on the shoulders, form a complete cape of what seems a different fabric because of its reversibility. There is always a cape, jacket or novel wrap with each evening dress.

Skirt lengths for sport are eleven inches from the floor; for street wear they come to the shoptop (and keep your eye open for the new shoes) and for formal wear they graze the floor or are trained.

At a race meeting a bookmaker was busy paying out a crowd of impatient creditors, and the combined effect of avoidpools and financial losses was beginning to manifest itself in a growing shortness of temper. A few minutes after settling up a very timid-looking man came up to him and, in a trembling half-whisper, said: "I'm afraid there's been a mistake about the money I won."

The bookmaker gave a pungent and trenchant summary of the man's intellectual shortcomings. The little man was the centre of many prying glances from the crowd, but he screwed up courage to speak. "Well, I'm sorry," he said, "but you gave me ten shillings too much."

PLAYHOUSE HAS PENTHOUSE FILM

Robert Armstrong and Dixie Lee Star in Smart Comedy—Fine Added Attraction

"Manhattan Love Song," Monogram's fascinating story of New York penthouses and burlesque shows, opens today at the Playhouse Theatre with debonair Robert Armstrong and pretty Dixie Lee in the leading roles.

Probably one of the most unique stories of Manhattan ever brought to the screen, the picture brims over with smart comedy, sophisticated dialogue and magnificent settings.

It is a tale of sharp contrasts, running from the serene heights of penthouse life to the sordid depths of Broadway's most daring burlesque shows, while at the same time it strikes a comparison between society and its servants.

"Manhattan Love Song" was directed by Leonard Fields from a screen play based on the novel by Cornell Woolrich.

Walter Huston is seen in "Gabriel Over the White House," an amazing dramatization of Washington political life.

Columbia Offers Two Attractions

An outstanding success of the past Broadway season, "Double Door," the thrilling and amazing play of life behind the sedate portals of one of New York's famous brownstone mansions, has been made into a picture by Paramount and comes today to the Columbia Theatre.

In the central roles as the two eccentric spinsters of the Van Brett family are Mary Morris and Anne Revere, who created those parts in the original Broadway presentation. They were brought to Hollywood by Paramount, especially for this picture. Evelyn Venable, Sir Guy Standing and Kent Taylor contribute their talents and ability, to make up an unusually well-rounded and competent cast.

In "The Fighting Code" Buck Jones fights and shows his way through a thrilling series of events culminating in the rout of a gang intent upon obtaining his property by unlawful means. Charming Diane Sinclair, who did such good work opposite Lionel Barrymore in "Washington, Masquerade," plays the leading feminine role.

GALSWORTHY NOVEL IS DRAMATIZED FOR FILMS

It was Diana Wynyard's success in school days and small amateur performances which turned her ambition toward the theatre.

After completing her education Miss Wynyard studied theatrical technique with a private tutor, and made her first stage appearance as one of the guests in a cabaret scene in "The Grand Duchess" in her native London.

Miss Wynyard comes to the Dominion Theatre, tomorrow, in the starring role of "One More River," Universal's dramatic picture.

CLEVER SINGERS ARE WITH RHYTHM MAKERS

Henri C. deBeaux, one of New York's best-known theatrical producers, will bring his "High Hatters of Rhythm" to the Empire Theatre this week-end, opening on Friday and appearing again Saturday and Sunday, at one minute past midnight.

With this company are a number of clever singers and dancers and comedians as well as the Victor Orchestra, conducted by Ralph Britt.

Jack and Ginger will be presented in a novelty dance and comedy number entitled "The Drunk and the Doll." Irene Cooper, known to thousands of radio listeners as "The Angel of the Air," is also with this vaudeville troupe.

"JUDGE PRIEST" NEXT CAPITOL PROGRAMME

More than ordinary pride must have thrilled Will Rogers when he put on a Confederate private's uniform and marched in the Confederate Veterans' memorial parade that is a part of "Judge Priest," showing at the Capitol Theatre, Saturday.

Rogers, himself one of the outstanding Americans of the present time, is the son of a Confederate soldier who fought throughout the Civil War.

"Judge Priest," adapted by Dudley Nichols and Lamar Trotti from Irvin S. Cobb's famous stories of the old Kentucky judge, was directed by John Ford and contains the largest cast yet assigned to a Rogers production.

CAPITOL A special chorus was selected for "The Belle of the Nineties," the current show at the Capitol Theatre, starring Mae West. The average weight of the chorus is 140 pounds. More than 200 aspirants were interviewed before the director picked the final fourteen.

That Body of Yours

(By James W. Barton, M.D.)

RADIATION TREATMENT OF GOITRE

Although the operation for removal of part of the thyroid gland in the neck is now being performed safely in practically all hospitals, nevertheless there are a great many patients with goitre who greatly dislike the idea of operation.

Of course, where there are pressure symptoms, operation must be greatly affected, operation must be done regardless of the patient's feelings in the matter.

Dr. G. E. Pfahler, Philadelphia, believes that "radiation" with either the X-ray or radium is excellent treatment when there is no urgency about the case.

After using radiation treatment in 533 cases of goitre, he states that irradiation with either X-rays or radium may be accepted as a useful method of treatment of goitre as good as those obtained by operation. The fear of operation or the delays before operation are likely to lead to damage to the heart.

By the use of the X-ray or radium, treatment is given immediately, thus no further damage can be done, and the patient is free from the anxiety which would be always present if he were waiting for or expecting an operation.

"Under treatment by this 'radiation,' as it is called, there is no pain, shock and no great inconvenience.

While the patient is under this treatment his general health must be watched and the energy maintained or increased.

Dr. Pfahler recommends operation in the simple and non-poisonous goitres unless there is some reason why surgery should not be used in which case a moderate amount of radiation may be used. He used the X-ray form of radiation as his method of choice.

Of 533 patients, 468, or about 88 per cent, were either cured or markedly improved.

The point to remember, then, is that operation is still considered the best treatment of goitres that need to be removed. After the operation the patient can usually leave the hospital in three weeks or less and be practically free of symptoms. This means no delays, no time for worries about the operation and a quick return to ordinary house, office or factory work.

However, when for any reason surgery cannot be performed, or when time means nothing, it is gratifying to know that this "radiation" treatment is so effective.

ALBERT MATTHEWS, TORONTO, SAYS YIELD TO BE UP THIS YEAR BY $6,000,000

Despite adverse weather conditions on the Prairies this year, it is estimated that Canada will realize $60,000,000 more on its wheat crop this fall than it did in 1933, according to Albert Matthews, Toronto, president of Matthews & Company, investment bankers, and director of Toronto General Trusts Corporation, who arrived in Victoria last night. He was accompanied by his wife and they registered at the Empress Hotel.

Mr. Matthews declared Eastern Canada and the Prairies were truly on the up-trend and there was no probability of them experiencing a setback.

Considerable money is now being invested in mining in Ontario and Quebec, and, consequently, the mining industry is aiding substantially in the early return to prosperous times, he declared.

Mr. Matthews plans to spend a week in Victoria, and before returning East, will pay a call on Premier T. D. Pattullo.

QUEEN MARY NAMES BIG SHIP FOR SELF

souvenir casket of silver and gold, and she was asked to name the ship. Amid tense silence the Queen took a step forward to the table. On it lay three electric push buttons. She pressed them, and there was a tinkle of glass as a bottle of Australian wine, released by the Queen, smashed against the mighty bows of the vessel.

A LIVING QUEEN

"I name this ship the Queen Mary," declared Her Majesty. It was the first ship to carry the name of a living queen, and the first passenger vessel to be christened by the Queen.

The Prince of Wales and other notable guests attended the ceremony.

The King and Queen were afterwards entertained at a great luncheon by the directorate of the line.

THE KING'S SPEECH

After the welcoming speeches to the King and Queen, His Majesty replied:

"I thank you for the loyal address of welcome to us. As a sailor, I have deep pleasure in coming here today to watch the launching by the Queen of this great and beautiful ship."

"The sea with her tempests will not readily be bridged. She is stronger than men, yet in recent times man has done much to make the struggle with her more equal."

"It is still less than a hundred years since Samuel Cunard founded a service of small wooden paddle-steamers for carrying mails across the Atlantic to America. Those first Cunard ships were of 1,150 tons. A few people now alive must, during their childhood, have heard those ships spoken of with wonder as evidence of man's mastery over Nature."

STATUEST OF SHIPS

"Today we come to the happy task of sending on her way the statuest ship now in being. Thank all those here and elsewhere whose efforts, however inconspicuous or humble, have helped to build her."

His Majesty remarked that for three years the uncompleted hull had lain on the stocks, until a Government grant enabled resumption of the work.

"We know full well what misery a silent dockyard may spread among a seaport, with what despair that misery may be endured," the King said. "During those years when work on her was suspended, we grieved for what that suspension meant to thousands of our people."

"We rejoice that with the help of my Government it has been possible to lift that cloud, and to complete this ship."

TO PLAY GREAT PART

"Now, with hope of better trade on both sides of the Atlantic, let us look forward to her playing a great part in the revival of international commerce."

"It has been the nation's will that she should be completed, and today we can send her forth, no longer a number on the books, but a ship with a name in the world, alive with beauty, energy and strength."

"Samuel Cunard built his ships to carry mails between two English-speaking countries. This one is built to carry the people of two lands, in great numbers, to and from, so they may learn to understand each other."

"Both are faced with similar problems, and they prosper and suffer together. May she in her career bear many thousands of each race to visit each other as students and return as friends."

BUILT IN FELLOWSHIP

"We send her to her element with the goodwill of all nations, as a mark of our hope in the future. She has been built in fellowship among the nations."

The peak of the highest tide of the Autumn was awaited as the signal for the Queen to name the ship and press the button releasing the triggers and sending the hull down the well-greased blocks into the River Clyde and the mouth of the River Cart.

to dump their goods at "below-cost prices," then the British Government is prepared to step in and place embargoes on Japanese goods which are now being marketed in England and in British colonies, he said.

However, the Government and the British manufacturers hope this course will not have to be resorted to, as it would prove of general harm in world commerce.

More business is being done in Great Britain today than ever before, but improved machinery and the natural increase in population have kept unemployment figures high, he explained. During the last three years, these figures have been cut by a third, or approximately one million persons, Captain Lumley pointed out. And he went on to say conditions in Great Britain must now mark time, for they will improve only as conditions improve throughout the world.

Although a few in England foresee universal strife resulting from the present unrest in Europe, Captain Lumley said he thought Great Britain, as a whole, held little fear of a great war in the near future. Germany, with its ambitious and

Hudson's Bay and Garrison Chalk Up Soccer Victories

Register 1-0 and 3-1 Wins Over Spencers and Navy in Opening Fixtures of Wednesday Football League—Charity to Benefit by $43.15

Presenting the strongest line-up, that has worn the green and gold sweaters into action for many a season, Hudson's Bay mid-week soccer eleven started its 1934-35 campaign in the Victoria and District Wednesday Football League with a 1-0 victory over Spencers, last year's champions, in the second half of yesterday's twin bill at the Royal Athletic Park. In the first game, the Garrison repeated their success of the last season, when they humbled a weakened Navy eleven, 3-1. Between 300 and 400 fans attended the fixtures, which marked the opening of the season with the Victoria and District Wednesday Football League clubs.

Alderman John Worthington, chairman of the city parks board, officially opened the season when he kicked off for the Garrison-Navy match. After being introduced to Bruce Robinson, skipper of the sailor eleven, and McAllister, captain of the Tommies, the popular city father gave the ball a hefty kick towards the Garrison goal and the season was officially under way.

RECEIPTS FOR CHARITY
Gate receipts, which amounted to $43.15, will be donated to charity by the Victoria and District Wednesday Football League.

Spencers, who won the league championship last year, had the veteran Al McKinnon, one-time star of Rennie & Taylor, back in harness, and Max Williams, who played with Esquimalt, as new material. While defeated by a lone goal, the diamond "S" boys will be considered a dangerous threat for the many trophies up for competition.

Hudson's Bay trotted out Tommy Musgrave, Jack O'Neil and Les Kennedy, three newcomers to Wednesday football, and they certainly strengthened the club.

FEW CHANGES
With one or two changes from their squad which made the Navy showing last year, the Garrison presented a well-balanced eleven and one that will need careful watching as the season progresses. Handicapped by the absence from Esquimalt of the ships, the Navy was forced to field a weakened team. However, with the return to the base of the H.M.C.S. Skeena and H.M.C.S. Vancouver, the sailors will be able to trot out a much stronger aggregation.

MUSGRAVE SCORES
Tommy Musgrave, making his debut on the Hudson's Bay line-up, signalled his entry into the Wednesday Football League by scoring the tally which gave his teammates a 1-0 victory over a fighting Spencer's aggregation.

After a scoreless first half, Musgrave garnered the first marker and what proved to be the only score of the match five minutes after the second session got under way when he beat McMillan, Spencer's net custodian, with a terrific drive from just outside the penalty area. It was a beautiful goal and one that McMillan had no chance to save.

From the very first foot of the referee's whistle the teams hit a fast pace, with play veering from one end of the field to the other. Baxter and McMillan, opposing net-minders, were called upon to make a number of sensational saves, and when the halftime whistle sounded the score sheet was still unmarked.

Soon after the resumption of play the green and gold aggregation staged a dangerous offensive, which culminated with Tommy Musgrave scoring with a stunning drive. Spencer's fought back gamely and although they made many well-organized attacks they failed to tie the score.

McMillan refereed, and the teams were as follows:

Hudson's Bay—Baxter, O'Connell, O'Neil, Williamson, Kennedy, Osmann, Wyatt, Fish, Stevens, Musgrave and Richards.
Spencers—McMillan, Munro, Cann, L. Bradley, Chapman, D. Bradley, Browne, Luxton, Clarke, Williams and McKinnon.

GARRISON WINS
With Dick Miller, clever-shooting centre-forward, performing the "hat trick," Garrison opened their schedule on the right foot with a 3 to 1 victory over their friendly rivals, the Navy, who, unfortunately, were without several of their regulars. With the ships still out of the city, the sailors were forced to field a

Another Double Football Card Next Wednesday
A NOTHER Wednesday Football League twin bill will be presented at the Royal Athletic Park next Wednesday. In the first game, commencing at 2:30 o'clock, Outer Wharf Rangers, a new entry, will battle the Hudson's Bay, while at 4:10 o'clock, Spencers will oppose their hardest rivals of last season, the Tommies from Work Point Barracks. The third league fixture will bring together the Navy and the Macbees, at the Admirals Road ground. The kick-off for this match will be 2:45 o'clock.

THISTLES TO MEET WESTS ON SATURDAY

Football Clubs to Battle for Leadership of First Division

Leadership of the first division of the Victoria and District Football League will be at stake Saturday afternoon, at the Royal Athletic Park, when Victoria West stacks up against Saanich Thistles in the first game of the double-header programme at 2:15 o'clock. Last week the greenshirts defeated Esquimalt, 4-1, while the suburban eleven registered a 3-1 victory over the young Victoria City squad. Top berth in the league standing will go to the victor in this important fixture.

ADDS TWO MORE
The second half was still young when Miller rifled home his second goal with a fast-rising shot, which Freeman had little chance to save.

Ten minutes later, Miller went through and banged home his third tally from twelve feet out. Five minutes from time the sailors were awarded a penalty when Worswick hooked Marr's feet from under him near the Garrison goal. Bruce Robinson was assigned to the kick, and skied the ball well over the bar. However, the sailors scored minutes later when Bunnellack crossed over to Walker at the left wing, and the latter scored with a first-time drive to the corner.

McKay refereed and teams follow:
Navy—Freeman, McDonald, Myles, Gleave, Robinson, Hutton, Sweet, Marr, Bunnellack, Williams and Walker.
Garrison—Glendenning, Linsley, Worswick, Wilkinson, Dyer, Featherstone, McAllister, Stewart, Miller, Edwards and Cook.

VANCOUVER, Sept. 26 (CP).—Five members of last year's Vancouver Lions in the Northwestern Professional Hockey League will work out at the New York Rangers training camp at Winnipeg, Guy Patrick, manager of the Vancouver club, announced tonight.

GEHRINGER IS CREEPING UP

Only Single Point Behind Gehrig and Waner in Close Batting Race

Charley Gehrig, the Tigers' hard-hitting second-baseman, connected with four hits in six trips to the plate, yesterday, and landed within one point of a tie for first place in baseball's Big Six. His hitting increased his batting average three points to .358, only a notch below Lou Gehrig and Paul Waner, each of whom lost a point. Kiki Cuyler gained undisputed possession of the third position in the National League. The Cub's outfielder did not play, but his rivals, Joe Moore and Rip Collins, failed to take advantage of the opportunity.

VICTORIAN ELIMINATED FROM CANADIAN TOURNEY

Mrs. Jackson Goes Down Before Fine Play of Mrs. Ford

Uplands Club Member Trimmed by Brilliant Shooting Vancouver Contender, 6 and 5—Semi-Finalists Are Named—Ada Mackenzie Continues to Flash Great Golf

By EDWIN S. JOHNSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer
SCARBORO GOLF CLUB, TORONTO, Sept. 26 (CP).—The road of a champion may be rough and strewn with pitfalls, but to Ada Mackenzie, Toronto, defending her title here as Canadian close golf queen, the harder the struggle the more brilliant she becomes.

Seeking her sixth closed crown, the superlative shotmaker played almost invincible golf, today, over Scarboro's 6,349-yard test to checkmate two rising stars who sought to dethrone her of the mantle she has worn for the past three years.

Keeping company with the defender into the semi-final brackets was another former champion, Mrs. C. B. Ford, of Vancouver, and two other Torontonians, Mrs. R. W. Gouinlock and Mrs. P. J. Mulqueen. Tomorrow afternoon, Mrs. Mackenzie will encounter Mrs. Gouinlock in an intra-city duel, while Mrs. Ford meets Mrs. Mulqueen in the lower half of the draw.

DAY OF UPSETS
In a day of mild upsets, probably the least expected development was the utter rout of the Montreal contingent. Three of the Quebec province aces, Margery Kirkham, Mrs. J. Dagenais and Mrs. H. W. Soper, met with such stiff opposition that they failed to survive the second round. The fourth casualty was Mrs. A. B. Darling, but she was forced to retire from the hunt as the result of an injury to her ankle, yesterday.

And to add to the sequence of disappointments, Yolande Moisan, winner of the net prize in the qualifying round, was eliminated in the first round of the championship consolation.

Two of the Pacific Coast stars, Mrs. W. Silcock, Vancouver, and Mrs. E. Jackson, Victoria, were eliminated. In the dual-round programme of the event, Miss Mackenzie first thrashed aside the challenge of Miss Kitty Gordon, Toronto, 8 and 7, and in the afternoon marched into the semi-final brackets by defeating Dorothy Harris, of Ottawa, 7 and 6.

Miss Harris, a first-time starter in major tournament play, had caused the biggest upset of the morning by flashing a sparkling spirit to eliminate Mrs. Dagenais, Province of Quebec champion.

MRS. JACKSON BEATEN
Mrs. Ford came the closest to matching the consistency of Miss Mackenzie, overwhelming her companion, Mrs. E. Jackson, of Victoria, 6 and 5, in the morning. In the afternoon, however, she encountered a stiffer assignment in disposing of Mrs. E. W. Whittington, Toronto, but rallied in time to end the battle on the sixteenth green, 3 and 2.

After defeating Miss Kirkham, former holder of the title, 5 and 4, in the second round, Mrs. Mulqueen had to stage a gallant uphill fight to overcome Mrs. T. J. Agar, Toronto, 2 up.

Mrs. Agar was extended to the limit to survive the second round, finally eking out victory on the twentieth hole over the determined Pacific Coast star, Mrs. Silcock.

Mrs. C. B. Shuttlesworth was crushed by a 4 and 3 counter by Mrs. Gouinlock.

Cards follow:
Mrs. Ford..... 644 355 474-42. In..... 534.5
Mrs. Jackson.....
Out..... 645 366 455-44. In..... 645.5
Mrs. Ford wins, 6 and 5.

MCLARNIN OFF FOR IRELAND
Welterweight Champion and Pop Foster Leave for Extended Trip

NEW YORK, Sept. 26 (CP).—Smiling and carefree Jimmy McLarnin sailed for the British Isles today, aboard the liner Washington, on a long-delayed vacation. Things fistic were far from his mind, and, as usual, he was under the wing of his manager and bulky shadow, "Pop" Foster.

Jimmy plans to visit the little town near Dublin where he was born a short time before he was moved to Vancouver. "Pop" is looking forward to a reunion in Athlone with a sister he hasn't seen in forty years.

The inseparable pair will do no considerable touring. Jimmy will play at least one round on golf, and his mother, Mrs. St. Andrews, is in Scotland.

Foster assured ship newsmen that Jimmy had no commitments to date to take his welterweight crown into the ring. It is likely the veteran manager added that the Vancouver champion will meet Barney Ross for a third time in March.

OUTSIDERS TO BOX ON LOCAL CARD

Five Chemainus Fighters Lined Up for Tillicum Programme Saturday

With five outside boxers already booked to meet local fighters and the possibility of a Seattle opponent for Muzz Patrick, Saturday's fight card at the Tillicum gymnasium gives promise of providing the followers of the mit game with plenty of good boxing. Thirteen bouts are listed on the programme being staged under the auspices of the Victoria Athletic Club, with boxers of all weights appearing on the card.

GRIFIN TO APPEAR

Bill Griffin, Chemainus glove thrower, who scored a knockout victory over Charlie Jordan, British Columbia champion, in his last appearance, has been matched with the hard-hitting Frank Brown, of the 5th B.C. Coast Brigade, in the semi-windup mix of four rounds.

The local flash made an excellent showing here a short time ago against Jordan and should give him a hard-battled plenty of trouble. Up-Island battler plenty of trouble.

Walter Davis, Chemainus middleweight, will step four rounds with George White, of the Victoria Athletic Club, in what should be a good mix. Douglas Ball, Rocky Point light-heavyweight, has been matched with Desmond Horigan, local battler, and Hamble Bailey, Chemainus, will swap punches with Dick Atwood, V.A.C. slugger. Alex Webber, clever Canadian Scottish lightweight, will try conclusions with George Kaiser, of the Victoria Athletic Club, in another bout that promises plenty of action.

LIST OF BOUTS

Other bouts on the lengthy card are as follows:
George Palmer, V.A.C., vs. Ed McKim, V.A.C. Three rounds at 115 pounds.

Ken Burns, Y.M.C.A., vs. Kid Kernachan, Chemainus. Three rounds at 60 pounds.

Jerry James, Y.M.C.A., vs. Graham James, Y.M.C.A. Three rounds at 38 pounds.

Irving Archer, 5th B.C. Coast Brigade, vs. Douglas Day, V.A.C. Three rounds at 135 pounds.

Charlie Reed, 5th B.C. Coast Brigade, vs. "Chuck" Underwood, V.A.C. Three rounds at 170 pounds.

Roy Baker, well-known pugilist, local boxing circles, will be the third man in the ring for all bouts. Bob Vipond and Stan James will be the judges; Bob Edwards, timekeeper; and Bill Coulson, announcer.

ATHLETES OFF FOR AUSTRALIA

Pick of Canada's Schoolboy Track and Field Circles Head for Big Event

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 26 (AP).—The pick of Canada's schoolboy track and field stars, winners in the trials to represent the Dominion in the coming Victoria centenary at Melbourne, Australia, sailed today aboard the Ss. Makura. The party was headed by Dr. A. S. Lamb, of McGill University.

While reluctant to make any forecast on the Canadians' chances in the athletic competition, Dr. Lamb indicated he thought his boys would make a good showing.

During the twenty-four-day trip to Sydney the athletes will condition themselves on the after deck of the steamer, as it is not equipped with a gymnasium. The party arrived this morning and made a hurried sightseeing trip of San Francisco.

ARNOLD AND QUIGLEY WIN

Captures British Columbia Senior Baseball Title by 6-5 Decision

VANCOUVER, Sept. 26 (CP).—Slim "Lefty" Jowett, who hurled Ioco Imperials to their only victory in the series against Arnold & Quigley, a 2-0 decision Monday night, failed to conquer the husky sluggers of the clothiers tonight, and the A. & Q. collected eleven hits for a 6-5 win and the British Columbia senior baseball title.

Arnold & Quigley scored once in each of the second and third innings. Imperials sent their first run across the plate in the fifth. Three singles and a double sent the score to three runs in the sixth, and they chalked up two more in the first half of the ninth on an error, a fielder's choice and a double. Ioco rallied in their half of the ninth, but fell short of tying the score. Three walks, a single, a double and Tucker's hit through short, that went for a home run, scored four runs.

R. H. E. scored four runs. A. & Q. 6 11 3 Ioco 5 4 1 Batteries—E. Lewis and Staggs; Jowett and Spicer.

CANZONERI IS WINNER OVER BROOKLYN BOY

Former Lightweight King Pounds Out Decision Over Dublinsky

BROOKLYN, N.Y., Sept. 26 (AP).—Tony Canzoneri, former king of the lightweight, began another comeback trial tonight with a decision over Harry Dublinsky, rugged Chicago welterweight, in a spirited ten-round bout at Ebbets Field.

Dublinsky, known as a strong finisher, made his usual rush down the stretch, but Canzoneri's superior boxing in the early rounds gave him a lead that the Chicagoan was never able to overcome.

It was a popular decision with the crowd of 15,000. Victory in the rubber fight with his old rival gives the Brooklyn fighter two victories to one in the current series and puts him in an even better position to demand a bout with Barney Ross, the lightweight champion.

MISSISS CHANCE

Dublinsky has counted on tonight's meeting to win him a shot at Jimmy McLarnin's welterweight crown.

Canzoneri won his first bout with Dublinsky, but lost a return engagement in Ebbets Field four weeks ago tonight. Then he tried to outslug Dublinsky and was badly shelled in the closing rounds.

Tonight, instead of trying to land a haymaker with every punch, Tony elected to box, and his marked superiority in this style of fighting ruled up the points which ultimately led to the decision.

Leading Stocks At Wall Street Recede Slightly

NEW YORK, Sept. 26 (AP).—The stock market eased off today, after encountering obstacles in attempting to carry on the brisk advance of the preceding session.

Undercurrents of returning confidence in financial markets were strengthened by additional evidence of seasonal business expansion.

United States Steel responded with a net gain of about a point to the declaration of another dividend of $2 a share on the common. Merchandise shares generally held firm. Rail shares softened.

Among prominent trading stocks, American Can, General Electric, Chrysler, General Motors, United States Steel and John Hancock retreated to show fractional losses at the close.

The bond market maintained a steady tone in today's moderately active market. Baltimore & Ohio's closed 2 points higher at 99 1/2.

The foreign section showed no important change.

Virginia Vane Says:

GIRL OF FOURTEEN, HOUSEHOLD DRUDGE, SHOULD BE ALLOWED SOME PLEASURES

Dear Virginia Vane: I am a girl of fourteen years, but considered about eighteen by strangers. This, I feel, is caused by all work and no play. I do all the housework. I wash the clothes by hand, as my parents cannot afford a washing machine, though I think they could if they wanted to. Sometimes it makes life unbearable, because I watch girls of my age go swimming, skating, play tennis, dance, and have many friends. I do not have any friends and I can't swim, skate or enter any sports. I should like to work after school so as to earn money for clothes, and go to the Y.W.C.A. for swimming lessons. I wouldn't mind housework so much if I could go out like other girls, but if I should go out with a friend, I'd be too shy to enjoy myself. Please do not tell me to talk it over with my parents, for I have, and they simply will not see my point of view.—J. O. F.

I am asking for readers of this column to send in their reactions to this letter. My first thought was that it was like something out of "David Copperfield" or "Oliver Twist," and I indulged in a good deal of righteous indignation over child slavery. But I should like to hear some other opinions—particularly those of parents who are familiar with this situation.

SHOULD GIRL REVEAL NEW LOVE TO OLD

Dear Virginia Vane: I have fallen deeply in love with a man whom I have met while on my Summer vacation, but there is no hope of marrying him—at least not for five or six years, and possibly never. Before I left home I was seeing a good deal of a man who is in love with me, although I never returned his love. He knew I liked him better than anybody else at the time, and he obviously hoped that I would some day love him. Now, I cannot decide how to tell him that I have fallen in love with somebody else. I haven't been wondering if the kindest thing to do might be not to tell him at all, since there is so little hope of anything permanent resulting from the other affair. I hate to be dishonest, but I know it will hurt him dreadfully to think I have fallen in love with somebody I have known three weeks, when he has been a good friend of mine for years. He was very much afraid of this happening, as he told me before I left that he was stealing himself for the shock of hearing that I'd fallen in love. Of course, I laughed in a superior way, and assured him that I had no intention of doing so. The most unfortunate aspect of the whole thing is that I was beginning to love him before I went away, and naturally that raised his hopes. It will be much more of a blow to him now than it would have been a few months ago. Can you advise me what to do?—Uncertain.

Are you sure it is just that you are afraid of hurting him, Uncertain, or could it be partly that you would like to avoid the unpleasantness of telling him and watching him be hurt? Then you do not like the idea of seeing less of him than you are used to, since the new love is inaccessible.

You are a little afraid that he will not accept the basis of friendship which you hold out, since when you left you were obviously in the process of a courtship. And there is also a secret dissatisfaction with friendship, since that means that you will have to compete with his other friends, and that he will have less time to devote to you.

If you are quite honest with yourself, you will see that telling him the truth is the only kind thing to do, as well as the only decent one. He will probably ask you directly whether you have fallen in love, and then you will be faced with the choice of a lie. You would not want that any more than he would. Tell him the facts, leaving out details, even though he asks for them. It is the details and the glowing expression of your face which will hurt more than the fact. You might wait an hour or so before telling him, so that he will see that your fundamental feeling for him has not changed, and that you are just as good a friend as ever. Otherwise, I cannot see that you have any choice. You would hurt him infinitely more by putting it off until some occasion arose when it became absolutely necessary to tell him the truth—and such a situation doubtless would arise. Besides that, you would involve yourself in unpleasantness of a much worse nature than that you could possibly have by breaking the news at once.

He will probably continue as before, in the hope that you will change your mind—particularly as the new romance seems so hopeless. But if he does not want to do this, you must not try to tie him down to any promise of friendship. The only fair thing to do is to reconcile yourself to the idea of his going off in search of romance, with the hope that if you are lucky, and a good friend, he will come back and give you his confidence. I should think that would be the best thing that could happen. It would be unfair to him and uncomfortable for you to have him keep on in the hope of winning your love. Be honest with him and do everything possible to keep his friendship without asking for it. You will probably be able to show that you are a valuable playmate and confidante.

The worst sort of unhappiness and complications are often caused by this mistaken attempt to avoid hurting someone's feelings. Usually it is an unrecognized attempt to keep your own feelings from getting hurt. It is only in rare instances, when the results can be fully foreseen, that dishonesty should be invoked. If you do anything directly against your principles for the sake of someone's feelings, it almost always ends in disaster for both of you. Few of us are able to judge what is best for another person, which accounts for all the unwholesome meddling with other people's lives. The only thing you can pretend to decide is what is the right thing for you to do yourself, and if you follow that rule, you will generally find that you are doing the right thing for everybody else as well.

I wish you luck, Uncertain, and hope that you will keep this man as a friend.

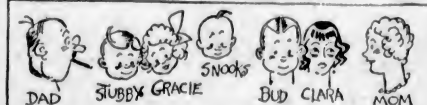

DON'T SEEK HELP FROM IN-LAWS

J.K.L.: You do not say whether you can support your fiancée in an independent, even though humble manner. If you can get along without asking help from her family, and if she really loves you, she will be much happier sharing your poverty than waiting in luxury. I have heard many wives say they are very grateful for their early experience of poverty shared with the men they loved. But you must be sure your income is adequate to get along independently, and the girl loves you enough and has enough courage to go through hardships with you. The comparatively luxury she has been accustomed to is unimportant if she is the right sort of girl. But don't make the mistake of asking help from families, because even when they are eager to help the newly-wed son or daughter, it generally causes trouble of some unexpected kind. Of course, if they are not anxious to help, dependence means humiliation and unhappiness.

"If you didn't take so much in-horses on the brain all your life," terest in horses you would be better. "I guess that's why I happened off," snapped the wife. "You've had to marry a nag."

FINE RESPONSE GIVEN APPEAL

Steady Stream of Taxpayers
Forces Treasury Department to Secure Help

Extra help was supplied the city treasury department, yesterday, to meet the rush of last minute taxpayers, who have responded admirably to the appeal that has been made to meet current accounts before the penalty date on October 2, officials stated yesterday.

While a steady stream of property holders has been moving through the treasury department, collections of tax arrears has maintained its day-to-day lead over last year. This has been chiefly due to the encouragement given delinquent taxpayers by offering a rebate on all accounts paid before the tax sale.

The tax sale will start on November 5, and all arrears accounts paid before that date are given a 50 per cent reduction in the penalty that is imposed.

Today, Friday, Saturday and Monday are expected to be exceedingly busy days for the treasury department staff, as many large accounts are generally paid just a few days before the penalty falls due.

which, it was said, "would set an example to Canada," provided that minimum salaries of experienced employees of the organization shall be $100 a month for unmarried men and $150 a month for married men. All employees must be veterans.

No date or place for the next convention was set, the matter being left with the Dominion executive. Delegates went on record to insist that a convention be held within three years.

It was decided to distribute a minimum of $25,000 a year in relief through the provincial commands. During the past eleven years the Army and Navy Veterans in Canada contributed more than $1,500,000 in relief to members. All relief must be handled through the Dominion office in Ottawa, and no cash allowances will be given.

SWEET PLAN DROPPED

A plan for raising money by establishment of sweepstakes based on hockey games was thrown out, "because it would break our agreement with the Government."

A resolution suggesting the establishment of unemployed veterans in houses along the length of the incomplete Trans-Canada Highway, separated by six-mile intervals, was passed. The plan, if adopted by the Dominion Government, calls for veterans to maintain sections of the road in return for their upkeep. It would apply particularly to the Big Bend section of the highway in British Columbia. The plan was endorsed as a measure to combat unemployment.

A resolution passed today authorized the executive to confer with the British Columbia Government with a view to inaugurating two scholarships for sons of war veterans, with the suggestion that the awards be for Royal Military College and Royal Naval College.

Votes of thanks were passed to Major J. Eades Ward, Victoria, provincial secretary, and Henry Warburton, of Vancouver, for their arrangements for the convention.

there was more or less accord was that the Endeavour was a faster boat than the Rainbow, and that superior seamanship was the factor that enabled the United States boat to overtake and vanquish the Endeavour.

A FINE SHOWING

Those who argued that Britain would again challenge the cup held that Britons must have been encouraged by the fine showing of the Sopwith yacht.

Members of the Rainbow camp did not hesitate to admit they were extremely lucky in edging out the big blue invader. One member of the camp publicly told one of Endeavour's afterguard, "We had a hard time beating you with a slower boat."

Endeavour was taken up to Bristol today to be fitted out with her ocean rig at the Herreshoff yard.

COMMENT IN ENGLAND

LONDON, Sept. 26 (CP)—Congratulations to the successful defenders of the America's Cup, thanks to T. O. M. Sopwith for his gallant bid, and general agreement that, if the series cannot be contested without acrimony, it is better to let it drop, marked English comment, today, on the latest unsuccessful English challenge.

Many commentators linked the series with the England-Australia test cricket series, in which the problem of "bodyline bowling" aroused strong feeling between the two countries, and declared that, if international contests cannot be fought in a sportsmanlike fashion, better not to have them at all.

The Star declared this should be the last of the races for the America's Cup unless the conditions can be drastically altered. "It is in their own phrase, up to the Americans," said The Star, "to propose a new form of contest. It might well be fought out alternately in English and American waters. Whatever happens, we do not want a repetition of the mess which has marked the present contest as one of the most unsatisfactory events of the year."

SYMPATHY FOR SOPWITH

"will have general sympathy with him in his declaration that he will never challenge again, and, if he does not, what Englishman will? The best thing that can happen is that the past should be wiped off the slate."

The Standard, under the heading "Bodyline Bowling," said that cricket and yacht racing "used to be regarded as among the most gentlemanly of recreations. If they are rated nowadays to provoke these undignified squabbles whenever an important contest takes place, let us confine international sport to tidy-diy-winks."

Nations are never slow to think the worst of each other, commented The Evening News, "and every sporting event on which the shadow of dispute falls brings its aftermath of mutual acrimony to the people concerned. If international yacht racing is doomed to have its 'bodyline' controversy, it would be better for all parties to deposit the America's Cup in one of New York's numerous cold storage warehouses and leave it there for all time."

SORE DISAPPOINTMENT

"Colonel J. T. C. Moore-Brab-

son, who described the race for us, is of the opinion that Endeavour was the better boat, and, if that is so, the advantage enjoyed by the owner of Rainbow in navigating in familiar waters must have been decisive, taken with command of a highly trained professional crew against the largely amateur crew which Sopwith had to enlist at the last moment, owing to the strike of his men."

"All that remains is to congratulate the defenders of the cup on their success, and to make the most handsome acknowledgments to Sopwith for his public spirit and sportsmanship in giving this challenge, and for his gallant effort."

To a gentleman who has married the daughter of a rich biscuit maker a friend said: "So you have taken, not the cake, but the biscuit this time?"

"Yes, and the tin with it," was the witty, if ungallant reply,
